SINGAPORE SPORTS HUB PUTS SAFETY AND SECURITY AT THE FOREFRONT OF ITS BUSINESS PRIORITIES

The National Safety and Security award (pictured) recognises the Singapore Sports Hub's efforts in enhancing the safety of the venue's premises, as well as contributions towards emergency preparedness for fire, crime, and terrorism incidents.

Singapore, 28 September 2018 – The Singapore Sports Hub today received the National Safety and Security Award (Individual category) at the National Safety and Security Watch Group (NSSWG) Award Ceremony 2018 held at Orchard Hotel Singapore. The NSSWG award recognises members at the national level for their collaboration with the SPF and SCDF, in enhancing the safety and security of their workplaces.

The Singapore Sports Hub is the first sporting Public-Private Partnership (PPP) project in Singapore. It has only reached its over four years in operation. The strong partnership with SPF and SCDF started in 2015 during its first-ever state-level event – the Southeast Asian (SEA) Games. As a premier sports, lifestyle and entertainment hub, one of the core priorities is to uphold strict safety and security standards in all aspects of operations.

Said Mr Oon Jin Teik, CEO of Singapore Sports Hub: "This recognition is a testament to the teamwork, dedication and relentless efforts of our more than 400 employees of Sports Hub. Safety and security are non-negotiable. It's the call of duty of every member at Sports Hub to make sure the safety and well-being of our patrons are our top priority."

Mr Lam Shiu Tong, Managing Director of FM Services, Cushman & Wakefield, who leads the Emergency Management team at Singapore Sports Hub, said: "This collaboration with the NSSWG gives us the great opportunity to enhance our security measures at our premises. Through the participation in emergency preparedness exercises, it puts us to test immediately on the effectiveness of and to validate our contingency plans. We are delighted that Singapore Sports Hub's efforts in making our venue safe and secure is recognised at the national level."

Singapore Sports Hub became a member of the Safety and Security Watch Group (SSWG) back in late 2014. Membership in the group enabled the Sports Hub more opportunities to work closely with government partners, as well as to build rapport with other stakeholders within the vicinity.
